AIMS & OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

Sustainable agriculture and rural development are integral and necessary components of sustainable development. It includes improving farmers' livelihoods, reducing poverty, promoting environmental conservation, ensuring food security, enhancing rural infrastructure and fostering equitable distribution of resources and opportunities. These goals seek to create a balance between economic growth and social well-being in the context of agricultural practices.

The conference aims at creating the platform at National level for innovative ideas and approaches to frame policy and research that encourage further collaborations across multiple time zones. It is need of hour to establish an exchange forum at the National level to identify and discuss issues across a range of disciplines, supporting and nurturing the next generation of social science researchers. To engage national and diverse voices, ideas, visions, and initiatives beyond borders. To strengthen global efforts and make the agrarian society sustainable for the socio-economic upliftment of society at large.
